Killersbinance Killers Binance was known for years on the market as one of the best options for alt-coin signals (with and without financial leverage). They provide average 1-2 signals a day and an overall accuracy of 97%. They did a couple of millionaires from their VIP members and not out of pure luck. They do not only offer negotiation signs like most other channels, teach their members how the market works and how to manage the risk when trading from 0.Trading alt-coin has become more and more popular from the moment of launching the network of Ethereum and not shows any signs of slowing down. People think that dit-coin trade is much easier than margin trading or futures trade, however there are only some merchants who make it in this market. From the contact we had with them and their VIP members, we discovered most of them made their VIP taxes in a couple of crafts and are more than happy with their service. VIP members also receive exclusive news and market intuitions, even before they are known by Public Public.Their Channel also offers a couple of signals and most market analysis, making it extremely easy for new members who know the market. It also offers advanced trading functionality for professional traders and collaborated with various international financial companies that have reached them where they are today. Their support team is extremely friendly and will be more than happy to answer any questions as it is not strongly recommended 24/7. We highly recommend the following killers Binance if you are starting in this market or if you are an experienced trader you try to learn other and level-up your Crypto trading game.PROS - High precision 97% - Team of the only higher performing merchants - Constant commercial signals (1-2 per day) - Short, Mid and Long Tight Keep - Trading Cup of the day - complete technical analysis with each sales team Always available and ready to answer any questions - - market analysis (for free and VIP members) CONS - Currently they do not offer support for trading bots or software, so their traders must enter each trade manually. CONCLUSIONS They are a team of alt-coin signal experts, ready to grow your portfolio if you are ready to learn from them and properly manage your risk. Bitcoin Bullets Bitcoin Bullets has become one of the leading trading signal channels and for a good reason... The dedication and support of their team, combined with one of the highest precision ratings on the market (Verified) separated them as one of the most active and profitable suppliers around, with clear and easy-to-understand updates and trading signals. Their goal is currently exploited and spot trading on Binance and Bybit, where most of their signals are executed. Currently providing less signals per day then their counterparts (1-2 per day) but more than compensate with their accuracy rating which is currently over 95%. Their daily analysis and updating of the market alone easily beats the entire structure of most other trading channels on the telegram. We had an interview with The Sicilian, the most representative figure of the Bitcoin Bullets team, and we can say with full confidence that this Italian trader is the most professional administrator with whom we have ever had a conversation. He is what keeps the wheels of this superb channel rolling and what made Bitcoin Bullets the beast is today. Bitcoin Bullets also stands out from the crowd because they offer services for all levels of expertise, from complete "noob" to "hedge fund managers" through a unique scale approach in space that creates a seamless transition from any level of experience to top in a record time (like all the rest). PROJECT High precision (Over 95%) - Short, medium and long-term trade Trade team of highly professional traders, analysts and investors Daily market analysis (for free and VIP members)- Daily scalping levels (VIP)- News available before general outlets- Highly responsive customer supportCONS- Currently they do not offer support for trading bots or software, so their traders must enter each trade manually.
